From the Library

Thanks, once again, for sharing the books you have enjoyed so we may all enjoy them, too. We have a vast variety of novels, history and biographies, devotionals and inspirational volumes, and many other nonfiction for just about any taste or interest.

Our special new addition, "My Story", by our friend and resident Hank Miller. At the request of his children, Hank has published his story and is sharing it with us as well. It's well done and very interesting.

We also have our Book Club that meets the third Wednesday of each month around the library table at 1pm. Come join us, you may hear about a book you are excited to read!

September 2023

UT SEC Football Begins!

Tennessee Athletics has announced its 2023 home football game designations in Neyland Stadium as the 10th-ranked Volunteers kick off the third season of the Josh Heupel era this fall.

Tennessee will honor two-time unanimous first-team All-American Eric Berry with his National Football Foundation College Football Hall of Fame On-Campus Salute when the Vols host Texas A&M on Oct. 14.

Everyone is invited to watch all the televised games in the community room. We will kick off with a pep rally on Friday, 9/15.

Mr. Whiskey University Class, Sept 30th

Smokey Baseball Outing, Sept 17th

Villager Spotlight - Eric Horlbeck

Growing up in Schenectady, New York, Eric worked to put himself through college and he credits God for helping him obtain his goal.

After securing his mechanical engineering degree, he did interesting work for Navy Radar contracts, the Apollo program, Nuclear Power Plants and active Army Reserves. He and Helen, his wife of 62 years, spent decades volunteering for the American Red Cross. They helped in more than twenty National disasters! They also volunteered with the Knox County Sheriff's Department SCAN program for 15 years.

Retirement at The Villages is allowing him and Helen to learn to relax as they enjoy their Golden years.
